59-464
LISTED
52-600
SWISS
1897
14,46

J. Bircher und E. Lommel.
28. August 1897.

Patent Nr. 14401.
1 Blatt.

72
Bldg
Brk
Div 4
464

Fig. 1.

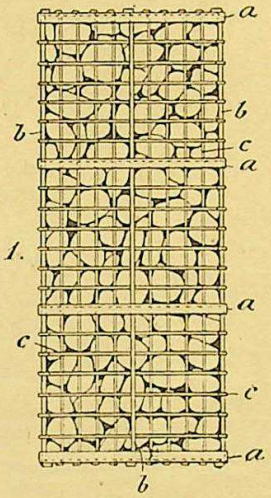

Fig. 2.

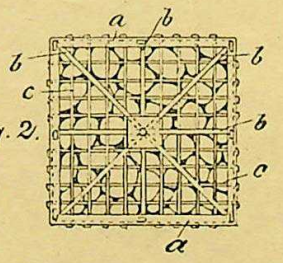

Swiss Patent 14401, Bircher & Lommel.

Building block consisting of pebbles, held together by prismatic grate-like hollow bodies consisting of an iron frame a and rods b and c, the rods being merely bent at the ends. Iron parts galvanized or protected by anti-corrosion paint. Size of meshes varied according to nature of pebbles used.

The blocks are intended mainly for hydraulic engineering and fortification works, also as ballast for ships and cranes.